MALAYSIA'S LEADING INDEX UP 5.3% Y-O-Y IN JUNE 2022, SIGNALS ECONOMIC GROWTH CONFIDENCE - DOSM

According to the Department of Statistics Malaysia (DoSM), Malaysia's leading index (LI) rebounded 5.3 per cent year-on-year to 111.7 points in June 2022 after a rise of 2.3 per cent in May 2022 (111.3 points). The increase was mainly backed by the increment in real imports of other basic precious and other non-ferrous metals driven by the import of platinum-based metals and influenced by the low base effect from the previous year (June 2021: 106.1 points). Concomitantly, the monthly change of LI increased 0.4 per cent in the reference month attributed mainly by real imports of other basic precious and other non-ferrous metals (0.6 per cent) and the number of new companies registered (0.6 per cent).

In June 2022, the LI which shows the ability to anticipate the future direction of the economy, signals confidence towards further growth in the coming months through smoothed long-term trend index movements that are intact above 100.0 points. This is in line with the anticipated promising signs of strong domestic and export demand as well as the reopening of international borders amid slow global economic growth.

For the current economic scenario, the coincident index (CI) spiked 12.6 per cent y-o-y to record 121.5 points in June 2022 in tandem with the economic performance in the second quarter of this year where strong growth was recorded in June 2022. Furthermore, the CI registered 0.2 per cent month-on-month led by the increases in industrial production index (0.9 per cent), capacity utilisation in the manufacturing sector (0.7 per cent) and total employment in the manufacturing sector (0.2 per cent). The diffusion index for LI recorded 42.9 per cent in June 2022. At the same time, the diffusion index for CI remained at 100.0 per cent since December 2021 representing that all the CI components increased over the past six months. The full publication of the Malaysian Economic Indicators: Leading, Coincident & Lagging Indexes, June 2022 can be downloaded through eStatistik portal.

WHAT'S THE NUMBER?

Pankaj C Kumar

Pankaj is a former CIO and Head of Research, presently focused on economic, market and corporate analyses. The views expressed here are entirely the writer's own.

Over the past week, the Fed Fund Futures has been pricing in greater expectations that the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) may trigger the third 75bps hike in its coming meeting next month. The FOMC is also expected to raise rates by another 25bps each in its November and December meeting, taking the Fed Fund rate to between 3.50%-3.75%. The more aggressive stance for the September meeting comes from St. Louis Fed President, Jim Bullard, who opines that another big move will help to tackle inflationary pressure much quicker. The comment led to markets turning cautious as benchmark yields rose while equity markets gave up recent gains.

ECONOMY

Out of the US, the New Home Sales for July fell by 12.6% m-o-m to 511,000 annualized pace in July - the lowest level since early 2016, and well below the median estimate of 575,000 predicted by the market. The Index of Pending Home Sales too turned lower as the July data fell by 1% to 89.8. In other news, Durable Goods Order for July came in flat against the market forecast of a 1% gain. Meanwhile, out of Europe, the August S&P Global Flash Eurozone Composite Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) deteriorated to 49.2 – a new 18-month low, and lower than last month's print of 49.9.

In other news, just a week after cutting rates on other benchmark rates, the People's Bank of China (PBoC) cut both its 1-year Loan Prime Rate (LPR) and the 5-year LPR by 5bps and 15bps to 3.65% and 4.30% from 3.70% and 4.45%. China's move is seen to address the slump in economic momentum post-Covid-19 lockdowns, which Beijing recognizes the significance of it with the release of yet another economic stimulus package worth some 1 trillion yuan or US$146bil.

Bank Indonesia (BI) now joins other central banks in raising rates as the central bank unexpectedly lifted the 7-day reverse repurchase rate by 25bps to 3.75%. BI also raised its forecasts for headline and core inflation and said it could exceed the 2%-4% target for this year and 2023. Bank of Korea (BoK) too was in the news as it raised the key benchmark 7-day repurchase rate by another 25bps to 2.5%, bringing the total rate hikes to 200bps since the first hike was initiated exactly two years ago. Across the causeway, Singapore headline and core inflation prints hit fresh new highs as inflation increased to 7% and 4.8% in July respectively – the highest level since 2008.

Locally, Malaysia's international reserves as at August 15, 2022 rose by US$1.7bil to US$110.9bil from US$109.2bil as at end of September. In Ringgit terms, the international reserves were higher by RM7.7bil to RM488.47bil from RM480.77bil a fortnight ago. Meanwhile, Malaysia's external trade data remains robust as July exports surged 38% y-o-y to RM134.1bil while imports increased by 41.9% to RM118.6bil, resulting in a trade surplus of RM15.5bil, up 14.3% y-o-y. For the first seven months of 2022, Malaysia's total exports increased by 27.8% to RM873.1bil while imports jumped 32.5% to RM734.5bil, giving rise to a trade surplus of RM138.6bil, up a modest 7.4% y-o-y.

CORPORATE

TCS Group won a RM108.4mil contract from IOI City Hotel Sdn Bhd for the construction of the main building works of a 19-storey single block Moxy Hotel Putrajaya to be carried out over 16 months. Meanwhile, an interim liquidator has been appointed by the Kuala Lumpur High Court to take control over Serba Dinamik Holdings and three of its subsidiaries after the company breached a Consent Order that required the company to make payments to six banks for a syndicated loan. In land deals, Matrix Concepts has entered into an agreement with NS Corporation (NSC) to purchase 1,382.2 acres of landbank that forms part of the Malaysian Vision Valley 2.0 for RM460mil or RM7.64 per sqft. As part of the land deal, Matrix and NSC will form an 85:15 joint venture company to develop the land.

EQUITY

After weeks of gains, global markets succumbed to selling pressure the past week on the back of concerns that the Fed will be more aggressive than initially thought. Except for a 0.5% and 1.0% gain on Bangkok's SET Index and Hong Kong's Hang Seng Index respectively, all other markets fell for the week with losses ranging between 0.2% to as much as 3.9% on the Nasdaq Composite Index. Despite solid gains on Thursday, the local bourse too closed on a weaker note as the benchmark KLCI lost 21.13 pts or 1.4% for the week in review to close at 1,495.49 pts. For the week ended August 24, both the foreign and retail market participants sustained their buying interest but net inflows were reduced to just RM159.1mil and RM74.0mil respectively. Local institutions remained net sellers with an outflow of RM233.1mil.

EYE ON WEEK AHEAD

Later today, the US Bureau of Economic Analysis will release the headline Personal Consumption Expenditure (PCE) for July as well as the Core PCE which the market expects to see some moderation with a growth of 4.7% y-o-y from 4.8% in June. All eyes will also be at the Jackson Hole Symposium where the Fed Chair, Jerome Powell, is expected to deliver his speech. Investors will be looking at clues on the pace of the coming September rate hike as well as the Fed's plan to reduce the size of its balance sheet and an update on the US economic outlook.

On Monday, August 29, the Department of Statistics will be releasing the July Producer Price Index (PPI) as well as the headline and core inflation data for the same month. Investors will likely be watching closely the core inflation print, which increased by 3.0% last month on a y-o-y basis. The next day, Bank Negara will be releasing the Monthly Statistical Bulletin as well as the July banking statistics and the detailed breakdown of the country's international reserves as at end of July 2022. Over in the US, the Conference Board's August Consumer Confidence data is due. On Wednesday, August 31, China will be releasing both the August Manufacturing and the Non-Manufacturing PMI data. On Thursday, September 1, the S&P Global Manufacturing PMI for Malaysia and the Eurozone are due while the JPMorgan Global Manufacturing PMI and the US Institute for Supply Management's (ISM) Manufacturing PMI are also expected to be released on the same day.

INCESSANT BLOODBATH DRAGS GLOVE STOCK PRICES BELOW PRE- PANDEMIC LEVELS

Devanesan
Evanson

Chief Executive Officer, Minority
Shareholders Watch Group

How Malaysia's big four glove makers have 'fallen flat' due to the vicious cycle of price corrections in two years is nothing short of astonishing. Lately, weak industry prospects have resulted in glove stocks being sold down further with Hartalega Holdings Berhad and Kossan Rubber Industries Berhad incurring the wrath of investors given declining/normalising average selling prices (ASPs) and stiff competition from China.

Recall that on 14 October 2020 the share price of Top Glove Corporation Berhad reached its all-time high of RM9.48 (ex-bonus issue of 2:1), valuing the world's largest glove maker at RM77.59 billion. This was when Top Glove was only 52 sen away from overtaking Maybank as the largest company on Bursa Malaysia (Maybank's market cap then was RM81.39 billion) (theedgemarkets.com, 15 October 2020).

Fast forward to recent times, the tables have turned on the big four and other smaller players, including those who had joined the glove bandwagon after being lured by supernormal profits reported by the existing glove companies due to soaring glove ASPs. While Maybank's market cap has climbed 31.9% to RM107.37 billion as of 17 August 2022 (from RM81.39 billion on 14 October 2020), Top Glove's fortune has nosedived 90.9% to RM7.06 billion.

LOWER THAN PRE-PANDEMIC LEVELS

To make the reality even harsher, all four big glove makers are currently trading below their pre-pandemic levels based on share prices as of 31 December 2019. Hartalega which recently announced a dismal first quarter performance for its financial period ended 30 June 2022, was off its pre-pandemic price by 68.25% at RM1.74 as of 17 August from RM5.48 on 31 December 2019.

Hartalega has in recent times come under heavy selling pressure not only due to poor prospects but also amid consistent share disposals by Employees Provident Fund (EPF). The institutional fund has ceased to be a substantial shareholder of Hartalega with its interest dipping below 5%. As of 15 August, EPF's stake in Hartalega has dwindled to 4.96% or 170.01 million shares from 8% or equivalent to 273.97 million shares on 3 January.

Closing at 86 sen on 17 August, Top Glove was 81.7% off its pre-pandemic price of RM4.70 while Kossan closed at RM1.02 or 75.48% lower than its pre-pandemic price of RM4.16. Supermax Corporation Berhad which was last traded at 77.5 sen on 17 August was 68.25% off its pre-pandemic price of RM1.39 sen.

Shares prices stated above are extracted from the Bursa Malaysia website and are adjusted for corporate exercises announced by glove makers*

INDUSTRY LULL

The near-term prospect remains bleak for glove makers given the current weak demand with customers keeping low inventory levels. An abundance of supply in the market and price cutting by Chinese glove manufacturers are the two key factors affecting the prospect of glove makers. As a result of massive capacity expansion by incumbent players, and influx of new players during the pandemic years, analysts estimated that the global glove manufacturing capacity has jumped by 22% to 511 billion pieces in 2022. The demand-supply imbalance will persist although some of the new entrants have started to shut down their production facilities while most of the big players in the industry have deferred their expansion plans.

Analysts opine that the demand-supply situation will only head towards equilibrium starting in 2025 when the growth of new capacity tapers off while demand for glove continues to be underpinned by better hygiene awareness. On top of that, glovemakers are expected to further lower their ASPs to remain competitive in the near term. The Chinese glovemakers are currently selling below cost, at US$16-17 per 1,000 pieces against Malaysian players at around US$20-25 per 1,000 pieces. However, doing so suggests that glove makers are unable to fully pass on the cost increase to buyers due to dwindling ASPs and a more competitive operating environment.

BEARISH OUTLOOK

Premised on the above, research houses continue to be bearish on glove stocks. For instance, CGS-CIMB Research has recently downgraded Hartalega to “reduce” from “hold” while slashing its target price by half to RM2.30 from RM4.70 previously. UOB Kay Hian Research also downgraded the call on Hartalega to “sell” from “hold” with a lower target price of RM2.25 from RM2.55. Meanwhile, against the backdrop of bearish sentiments on the sector given the stiff competition, Maybank IB Research has reiterated its “sell” call on Hartalega with a lower target price of RM1.86 compared to RM2.48 earlier.

Facing a similar fate is Kossan. Its three-month revenue for the financial period ended 30 June 2022 fell by 73.64% year-on-year (y-o-y) to RM589.86 million from RM2.24 billion due to lower ASPs and sales volume. This has resulted in its net profit plunging 95.68% y-o-y to RM45.99 million (Q2FY2021: RM1.06 billion). With that, Kenanga Research has lowered its target price for Kossan to RM1.03 from RM1.20, while retaining its “underperform” rating on the glove maker. Lastly, PublicInvest Research maintained its “neutral” call on Kossan with a lower target price of RM1.40 (from RM1.73).
