LEADING INDEX (LI) SIGNIFIES BETTER ECONOMIC RECOVERY AHEAD FOR MALAYSIA - DOSM

A ccording to Malaysia's Department of Statistics Malaysia (DoSM) chief statistician Datuk Seri Mohd Uzir Mahidin, economic recovery is in a better direction, as the performance of the Leading Index (LI) for April 2022 eased to a better negative of 0.5 per cent from a negative 1.4 per cent in March 2022. The LI is a predictive tool used to anticipate economic upturns and downturns in an average of four to six months ahead. The decrease in LI was influenced mainly by the drop in the number of housing units approved caused by the decline in applications from developers during the said month. Based on a month-on-month comparison, LI slipped to a negative 0.5 per cent, dragged by the number of housing units approved (-1.4 per cent), number of new companies registered (-0.5 per cent), and the Bursa Malaysia Industrial Index (-0.3 per cent). Despite the softening in LI for the reference month, the direction portrayed by the smoothed LI remained favourable by consistently above the long-term trend and registered better index points. This implies that the trend of Malaysia's economic recovery is in a better direction. The issue of inflation and rising commodity prices need to be taken into account, considering the global situation. The Coincident Index (CI), which measures the overall current economic performance, is picking up since February 2022, reflecting an increase in economic activities with the economic and social activities operating at full capacity. The CI continued to climb by 5.3 per cent year-on-year to attain 120.3 points in April 2022. On monthly basis, the growth of CI increased to 2.0 per cent in the reference month compared to 1.4 per cent in the previous month. The growth was driven by a significant increase in volume index of retail trade (1.6 per cent). In relation to the reference period of the Malaysian business cycle, the CI detected a recession-induced by the Covid-19 pandemic beginning in February 2020 and ending in July 2021.

SC TO RELEASE SRI TAXONOMY FRAMEWORK BY THE END OF THE YEAR

According to the Securities Commission Malaysia (SC) Executive chairman Datuk Dr Awang Adek Hussin, SC will be releasing the Sustainable and Responsible Investment (SRI) Taxonomy framework by the end of the year. The framework would act as the guiding principles to identify and classify economic activities that support environmental, social and sustainability objectives. The SC is finalising the SRI Taxonomy following a public consultation paper issued in December last year and will continue to pursue the SRI agenda for the next phase of the market development. Speaking at the SRI Virtual Conference 2022, titled 'Preserving the Climate through Sustainable Business and Living', he said this is clearly articulated in the Capital Market Master Plan 3 (CMP3). The SRI, along with the Islamic capital market (ICM), will play a key role in accelerating the transition to a sustainable and inclusive stakeholder economy. SC intends to expand the range of products and services for Islamic social finance and impact investing, in alignment with SRI principles. It will also be developing a framework for market-based instruments to enable transition finance in Malaysia which will increase funding options for companies at various stages of their sustainability journey. Malaysia's sustainable investments journey started as early as 2014 when the SC's SRI Sukuk Framework was introduced, which allowed for funds to be raised to finance a wide range of green, socially beneficial and sustainable projects. To date, a total RM8.3 billion of SRI Sukuk has been issued under this framework. Subsequently, the Guidelines on SRI Funds was rolled-out in 2017 to facilitate the growth of environmental, social and corporate governance (ESG) funds in Malaysia. As of 2021, 34 SRI funds have been launched, offering wholesale and retail investors the opportunity to invest in conventional and Shariah-compliant ESG-focused funds. Businesses today face rising expectations from stakeholders and the communities they serve. More than ever, they are being assessed on their sustainability commitments and handling of social issues, and our corporates are rising to the challenge. Recent research by PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) found that 94% of the top 50 Malaysian public-listed companies have ESG strategies in place. Sustainable and inclusive business practices benefit not just shareholders, but all stakeholders. Therefore, boards and management must take the lead and ensure that sustainability is at the heart of business strategy and operations. Crucially, investors must also play their role by shining a spotlight on the credibility of corporate commitments and shape the narrative ahead. Progress has certainly been made but there is still a long way to go. Moving forward, the key to managing the transition to a more sustainable and greener future is the availability of financing and impetus for change. Sustainable change requires investments in new technologies and innovative solutions. Market-based funding and risk management instruments are well-equipped to facilitate public and private efforts in climate mitigation and transition adding that Bloomberg Intelligence has estimated global ESG-related assets under management to grow to US$50 trillion (RM221 trillion) by 2025, primarily driven by fund inflows focused on climate change

TOWARDS FORMALISING STEWARDSHIP POLICY FOR INVESTEE COMPANIES - EPF

According to the Employees Provident Fund (EPF) chief strategy officer Nurhisham Hussein, the Fund is currently formalising a stewardship policy to address investee companies that fail to comply with the environmental, social and governance (ESG) standards. The stewardship policy addresses the level of engagement and action taken by the Fund in case somebody does not comply with the standards. The policy is expected to be issued sometime in the near future. At least the people will be able to understand the consequences and the channels that they can use to communicate with the EPF and other big investors on specific issues that need to be addressed. He was speaking at the Sustainable and Responsible Investment Virtual Conference 2022, titled "Preserving the Climate through Sustainable Business and Living". In March this year, EPF had launched the Sustainable Investment Policies, Priority Issues Policies, and Priority Sector Policies to guide the EPF in making informed decisions by integrating ESG standards. These initiatives are aligned with EPF's commitment to two overarching sustainable investment ambitions that will guide its overall pursuit of sustainability, namely, to achieve a fully ESG-compliant portfolio by 2030 and a climate-neutral portfolio by 2050, in line with the 12th Malaysia Plan's aspirations for a carbon-neutral country.

FOCUS ON 2% INFLATION TARGET

Pankaj C Kumar

Pankaj is a former CIO and Head of Research, presently focused on economic, market and corporate analyses. The views expressed here are entirely the writer's own.

fter raising the Fed Fund Rate by 75bps last week, Federal Reserve Chairman, Jerome Powell's comments that the Fed is focused on returning inflation to the 2% target rate implies that the Fed will do what it takes to bring inflation prints down. Although his comments were more towards investors' confidence in the US Dollars as a store of value, the Fed's inflation targeting is nevertheless an important element in building investors' confidence. Mr. Powell also did not rule out a possible recession scenario for the US due to Fed's aggressive stance to tackle inflationary pressure as manoeuvring a soft landing for the US economy will be challenging. Meanwhile, Moody's Analytics join other institutions in lowering the 2022 global GDP growth with a forecast of 2.8% from 3.1% previously.

Domestically, Malaysian government's move to remove the ceiling price for chicken and chicken eggs as well as subsidies for cooking oil in bottles of 2kg, 3kg, and 5kg with effect from July 1 is likely to see higher inflation prints from next month onwards. However, the government will still be spending some RM4bil in subsidy for the 1kg polybag packages.

ECONOMY

Out of the US, the Housing Starts for May fell by 14.4% m-o-m to an annual rate of 1.55mil from a revised 1.81mil in April, well below the consensus expectations of 1.69mil. In other news, Existing Home Sales came in within expectations as the May data fell by 8.6% y-o-y and 3.4% m-o-m. Meanwhile, the People's Bank of China (PBoC) left its domestic key benchmark rates unchanged as the world's second-largest economy is just regaining its footing from the two-month lockdown across several major cities, while the Philippines raised its benchmark rate by another 25bps to 2.5%, as expected.

Out of Eurozone, the S&P Global Flash Eurozone PMI Composite Output Index and the S&P Global Flash Manufacturing PMI for June came in at just 51.9 and 52.0 against 54.8 and 54.6 in May respectively. The Eurozone consumer confidence plummeted further with a reading of -23.6 in June against -21.1 in May, as high inflation prints and the war in Ukraine have taken a toll on consumers. The reading was near the lows seen in April 2020 at the height of the Covid-19 pandemic. Meanwhile, the UK saw headline inflation rising to 9.1% y-o-y in May, coming in within expectations, but higher than the 9% print in April.

Locally, Malaysia's May exports surged 30.5% y-o-y to hit RM120.5bil while imports jumped 37.3% to RM107.9bil. However, due to a stronger surge in imports, the May trade surplus fell by 8.3% y-o-y to RM12.6bil. For the first five months of 2022, exports improved by 23.5% y-o-y to RM593.0bil while imports increased by 27.0% to RM491.9bil. Malaysia's total trade surplus for the period stood at RM101.1bil, up 9% y-o-y. Separately, Malaysia's international reserves as at June 15 fell by US$3.6bil to US$109.2bil from US$112.8bil a fortnight ago. In ringgit terms, reserves fell by RM16.08bil to RM458.14bil from RM474.22bil. Meanwhile, according to the Department of Statistics Malaysia (DOSM), Malaysia's Foreign Direct Investment totalled RM48.1bil in 2021 against RM13.3bil in the previous year.

In other news, Malaysia has decided not to extend the 6% Sales and Service Tax exemption for new vehicles, which expires on June 30, 2022. Nevertheless, for bookings made before the date, new vehicles registered will still enjoy the exemption right up to March 31, 2023. In a related development, according to the Malaysian Automotive Association, vehicle sales in May fell by 11.8% m-o-m to 49,603 from 56,213 in April. However, compared with a year ago, sales were higher by 5.1%. Year-to-date, Total Industry Volume increased by 7.4% to 265,656.

FRIDAY JUN 24, 2022 Invest | 26

Meanwhile, the Employees Provident Fund was not spared from the global market meltdown as 1Q 2022 investment income declined by 17.8% y-o-y to RM15.85bil from RM19.29bil. After taking into consideration the RM1.09bil write-down on its equity exposure, net investment income totalled RM14.76bil.

CORPORATE

In contract news, Gamuda, via its 50%-owned joint venture company, won a A$1.35bil Coffs Harbour Bypass project awarded by the New South Wales government. Tuju Setia won a RM257mil construction contract for the construction of Jernih Residences in Kajang, while Kerjaya Prospek Group obtained a RM154.7mil contract for the main building works of a residential development project located in Bangsar, Kuala Lumpur. In other news, Tititjaya is set to invest some RM200mil in a logistics commercial complex in Penang for DHL Properties (M) Sdn Bhd under a 10-year build-and-let agreement. Meanwhile, YTL Hospitality REITs announced that the revaluation exercise of its property portfolio saw a gain of RM212.0mil, enabling its unaudited net asset value per share to increase to RM1.6806 per share as at May 31, 2022, from RM1.5562 per share prior to the revaluation exercise.

EQUITY

Global markets were generally weaker the past week as investors turned cautious on Fed's move as well as weaker economic data points.

Nevertheless, some markets were firmer, rising between 1.1% and 2.1% while markets that fell saw losses of between 0.1% to as much as 5.6% on Korea's KOSPI Index. It was another sell-off week on Bursa Malaysia as stocks tumbled across the board with the benchmark KLCI losing another 41.72pts or 2.8% to close at 1,431.05pts. For the week ended June 22, retail market participants and local institutions were again the net buyers in the market but with a smaller net inflow of RM143.9mil and RM140.5mil respectively. This left the foreign market participants as sole net sellers in the market with an outflow of RM284.4mil.

EYE ON WEEK AHEAD

Later today, the DOSM will be releasing Malaysia's May inflation data as the market will be closely watching both the headline and core readings, which were last seen at 2.2% and 2.3% respectively in April. Out of the US, the final June University of Michigan Consumer Sentiment Index is due with the market expecting the same reading of 50.2 as per the preliminary report, while data for May 2022 New Home Sales that is also due will be of interest due to the recent surge in mortgage rates.

On Monday, June 27, the US Durable Goods Order and Pending Home Sales data for May are expected to be released while the next day, all eyes will be on the Conference Board's Consumer Confidence data for June, which is expected to fall to just 100.0 from 106.4 in May. On Thursday, June 30, China will be releasing both the official manufacturing and non-manufacturing PMI for June, which the market expects a slight dip from the preceding month's prints of 49.6 and 47.8 respectively. Later in the day, the US core Personal Consumption Expenditure for May is due with consensus expecting a 4.9% print, unchanged from the April reading. Locally, on Tuesday, the May 2022 Producer Price Index-Local Production is due, while on Thursday, June 30, Bank Negara will be releasing the detailed disclosure of Malaysia's international reserves as well as the monthly banking statistics for May 2022.

CALL FOR BANKS TO BETTER SAFEGUARD CUSTOMERS FROM FRAUD AND SCAMS

Devanesan Evanson

Chief Executive Officer, Minority Shareholders Watch Group

here has been a recent spate of phishing scams using malicious mobile applications. These have fuelled calls for banks and financial institutions to up their game in better safeguarding depositors' money from financial fraud and scams. With the prevalence of e-commerce and the age of digitalization, it is not surprising that many fall prey to various scams. Phishing scams via mobile apps first emerged in late 2021 and has been growing since with more cases reported. One can only speculate on the number of unreported cases. They go unreported for many reasons but mainly due to embarrassment and protecting their brand and reputation. Imagine if a bank was to report that it has been hacked. There may be a run on the bank of sorts. In such instances, regulators also may adopt a stance where they sacrifice transparency (that a bank has been hacked) for the greater good of the banking system by protecting the name of the hacked bank. The end justifies the means, apparently. Scam victims were sometimes reported to have lost their hard-earned money and savings to the tune of six figures. Most of the victims claimed that they were not aware that money was being transferred out of their bank accounts until they received SMS notifications from banks. Also, they allege that no TAC (Transaction Authorisation Code)/OTP (One Time Password) was received for these transactions nor were there calls from banks to them to verify the suspicious and multiple transactions.

FROM THE OBSERVER

THE MODUS OPERANDI OF PHISHING SCAMS VIA APPS

The modus operandi of a phishing scam via mobile apps is fairly elaborated and sophisticated. To begin with, fraudsters display advertisements on social media by impersonating legitimate businesses with "too good to be true" deals e.g., huge discounts on products and services, cashback et cetera, to lure unsuspecting victims.

Once users clicked on the advertisement, they are led to a WhatsApp chat where they would be given a link to an app download which is not to the Google Play Store or Apple App Store. Instead, it is an Android Package Kit (APK) file – the file format that Android uses to distribute and install apps. For users to use the app, the app requires permission to read SMS messages (which is often necessary for other legitimate mobile apps).

Upon installation, the app requires users to set up an account with information such as mobile phone number and email address required for registration. Then, users are presented with payment options of credit cards and FPX bank transfers. However, usually, the first payment option would not be available (which is being done intentionally to prompt victims logging in to their bank accounts). Thus, users would have no choice but resort to FPX bank transfers by keying in their username and password.

Now, since the username and password are captured, and the permission to read SMS (to get hold of TAC/OTP code) is granted, and voila! Scammers now get hold of everything they need to clear out your bank account.

RESPONSE FROM THE CENTRAL BANK

As the number of scams grow, the number of victims is climbing. But help was not forthcoming for victims. Banks were reported of being nonchalant in responding and handling customers' concerns. The view held was that it was the fault of the users who "willingly" (albeit unknowingly or carelessly) granted fraudsters access to their information. There was a risk that confidence in financial institutions may erode arising from the scams. With that, Bank Negara Malaysia had on 10 June called for banks and financial institutions to take adequate steps to protect their customers. BNM stated that it would take "appropriate supervisory and enforcement actions" against banks which fail to do so. The central bank also urged the public to be extra vigilant in safeguarding their personal information and downloading files or applications from unverified sources onto mobile devices. Besides, it had also required all licensed banks to ensure proper communication, as well as fair redress for customers who have taken necessary steps to protect themselves and have not acted fraudulently. Despite repeated assurance from banks and authorities that the current banking systems and security remain intact and not compromised, there were backlashes on social media against banks and authorities over their "inaction". Meanwhile, Singapore seems to be taking a harder approach in handling similar scams. Just last month, OCBC bank was slapped with an additional capital requirement of approximately S$330 million by the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS) for its deficiencies in responding to a wave of spoofed SMS phishing scams in December 2021. The SMS phishing scams happened last December involving SMSes impersonating OCBC Bank. A total of S$13.7 million was lost in the spate of phishing scams involving 790 victims. The Bank later proceeded to make full goodwill payouts to fully cover scam victims' losses which were made as a one-off gesture and were not meant to set a general precedent for future cases. The additional capital requirement translated to a 0.21% impact on OCBC Bank's Group capital ratio.

WHAT DO HIGHER CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS MEAN FOR BANKS?

Capital requirements are imposed upon banks and financial holding companies to ensure their continuing ability to meet their obligations as and when they fall due while maintaining the confidence of customers, depositors, creditors, and other stakeholders in their dealings with the institution. The requirements also seek to further protect depositors and other senior creditors in a going concern situation by promoting an additional cushion of assets that may be used to meet claims in liquidation. However, the opponents to higher capital requirements argue that these may significantly increase the cost of bank credit, lower liquidity and hinder economic activity. As required by BNM, local financial institutions shall hold and maintain the following minimum capital adequacy ratios of 4.5%, 6.0% and 8.0% for their CET1 Capital Ratio, Tier 1 Capital Ratio and Total Capital Ratio. As for Domestic Systemically Important Banks (D-SIBs), they are required to maintain higher capital buffers to meet regulatory capital requirements that include a Higher Loss Absorbency (HLA) requirement. The applicable HLA requirement for the three DSIBs (Malayan Banking Berhad, CIMB Group Holdings Berhad and Public Bank Berhad) range from 0.5% to 1.0% of risk-weighted assets, at the consolidated level.

BANKS' DUTIES TO PREVENT, DETECT AND RESPOND TO SCAMS

In announcing the additional capital requirements on OCBC Bank,

MAS also stressed that financial institutions must put in place robust measures to prevent, detect, and respond to scams. "This means ensuring that their controls remain effective against evolving scam tactics, and prompt actions are taken as soon as a scam is detected. Consumers must also remain vigilant against persistent attempts by scammers to deceive them into divulging their log-in credentials or initiating transfers themselves," it said in a media release dated 26 May. Swiftly after the incidents, OCBC Bank had introduced a few enhanced security measures to combat financial fraud. These include lowering the default fund transfer daily limit, a cooling-off period of at least 12 hours for key account changes such as updating mobile number for notifications, and the rollout of a "kill switch" that enables customers to immediately freeze all their current and savings accounts in an emergency.

CONCLUSION

Alongside the advent of technology, fraudsters are becoming increasingly more sophisticated with their tactics. Many of today's scams – especially those which are online – are merely modified versions of old schemes that have been used to fleece offline investors for years; only the medium has changed – from physical to virtual. Scammers tend to capitalise on greed to entice the vulnerable and unsuspecting. While financial institutions have their part to play in ensuring customers are protected, no amount of security could protect us if we are not vigilant and careful.
