Dato' Eu Hong Chew Former Group CEO i-Berhad Non-Executive Director

He has been associated with the Sumurwang Group for many years charting the path for its manufacturing arm, firstly under Dreamland Holdings Berhad and the subsequent acquisition of I-Berhad.

Before that, he was with PA Management Consulting for a decade where he was the Director of Studies for the Cranfield PA MBA Programme in Malaysia.

Educated at the Royal Military College, Dato' Eu has an engineering degree from the University of Glasgow, and a MBA from the University of Bradford, UK.

SUMMARY

Ajinomoto's (AJI 2658.MY) revenue has grown at a 6.1% CAGR over the past 12 years, in line with the seasoning industry's market growth. However, its profitability has been significantly influenced by one-off land sales.

- The new manufacturing plant, increasing Middle Eastern market penetration, and halal-certified products provide a path for continued growth, especially in export markets.
- The company is financially sound with minimal debt, substantial cash reserves, and consistent positive cash flow. Together with its good margin of safety, this is more of an investment opportunity than a value trap.

BACKGROUND

Ajinomoto was established in 1961 as a monosodium glutamate (MSG) producer under the AJI-NO-MOTO brand. It was one of the first Japanese companies to establish itself in Malaysia. In 1965, the Department of Islamic Development Malaysia (JAKIM) recognized and approved the company as a halal food manufacturer and has since maintained this certification.

The Group has since grown into a dynamic food and seasoning manufacturer with two business segments:

- Consumer business: This segment manufactures and distributes a wide range of seasoning and food products for the consumer market.
- Industrial business: This serves the food manufacturing and food industries.

While the Industrial segment only accounted for 23% of the 2023 revenue, it contributed 79% of the 2023 operating profit. Ajinomoto serves mainly the Asian and Middle Eastern markets. In 2024, Malaysia accounted for 57% of its revenue.

In 2022, the Group relocated to its new plant in Bandar Enstek. This enabled Ajinomoto to sell off the site of its old plant with a substantial one-off gain of RM391 million in 2024. At the same time, as will be shown later, this land sale and relocation affected the performance of the business.

OPERATING PERFORMANCE

Over the past 12 years, revenue grew at 6.1% CAGR. It is not a high-growth Group. However, excluding 2024, we do not see the same growth trend for PAT. Refer to the left part of Chart 1. You can see 2 PAT peaks - 2017 and 2024.

- The 2017 PAT was boosted by the RM121 million gain from the compulsory acquisition of its land by the government.
- The PAT was boosted in 2024 by the RM356 million gain (after real property gains tax) from the sale of the land where its former manufacturing plant was located.

Given the land gain, a more realistic picture would be to look at the operating profits ie before interests, and one-off gain. On such a basis the operating profit grew from RM26.7 million in 2013 to RM60.3 million in 2024 at 7.7% CAGR. Refer to the left part of Chart 1.

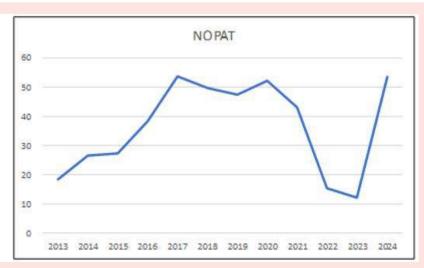

Chart 1: Performance Index and Operating Profit after Tax

Note: Ajinomoto did not classify its operating costs into the cost of sales and other selling and administration expenses. As such the gross profit was estimated. In my analysis, I used the cost of sales data from TIKR.com for this.

You can see that NOPAT declined in 2021 due to COVID-19. Note that Ajinomoto has March as its financial year-end. The 2021 results covered most of the 2020 calendar year which was impacted by the measures taken to control COVID-19.

The 2 land sales boosted the overall performance of the company. From an overall past 12 years perspective, Ajinomoto delivered an average ROIC of 20% and an average ROE of 15%.

GROWTH PROSPECTS

Ajinomoto is in the food seasoning industry. Over the past 12 years, its revenue has grown at 6.1% CAGR mainly through organic growth. I would consider this a reasonable performance as the seasoning market is not a high-growth one.

"The Asia-Pacific Seasoning and Spices Market size is estimated at USD5.28 billion in 2024...growing at a CAGR of 5.63% during the forecast period (2024-2029)". - Mordor Intelligence

"The Asia Pacific Seasoning & Spices Market would witness market growth of 5.8% CAGR during the forecast period (2022-2028)." - KBV Research

"The Middle East and Africa Spices and Seasoning Market size is expected...to grow at 5.6 % to reach USD687 billion by 2029." - Market Data Forecast.

I would like to point out that from 2019 to 2024, its revenue growth was

- 5.6% CAGR for Malaysia.
- 17.1% CAGR for the Middle East.
- 4.2% CAGR for the rest of Asia (excluding Malaysia).

The higher growth rates in the Middle East and the Halal certification give me confidence that there is still a revenue growth path for the Group.

PEER COMPARISON

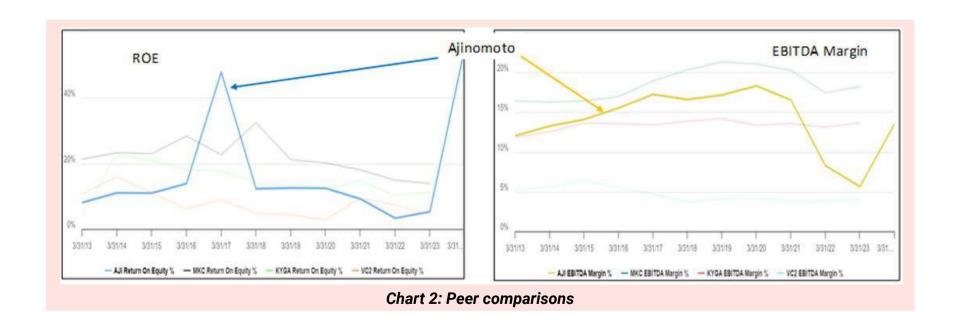

On a global scale, Ajinomoto is a small player in the seasoning industry where it had lower growth rates than some of its larger

Company	Revenue
	2023	Growth
	USD m	2013 to 2023
Ajinomoto (AJI)	137	2.4%
McCormick (MCK)	6,662	4.9%
Kerry Group (KYGA)	8,854	1.0%
Olam Industries (VC2)	36,669	8.4%

Table 1: Peer revenue

Asia-Pacific seasoning and spice peers. Refer to Table 1.

Compared to its peers, Ajinomoto's performance would probably be at best average. I based it on 2 metrics - ROE and EBITDA margin. Refer to Chart 2.

FINANCIAL POSITION

I would rate Ajinomoto as financially sound based on the following criteria.

- As of the end of Sep 2024, it had RM278 million in cash and short-term investments. This is about 30% of the total assets.
- It had a Debt Equity ratio of 0.4% as of Sep 2024. This had come down from its 2022 high of 20%.
- · The Group generated positive cash flow from operations for 11 out of the past 12 financial years.
- Excluding the land gain and the new factory constructions, I estimated that its average Reinvestment rate (Reinvestment/ NOPAT) from 2013 to 2019 was 3%.

Reinvestment = CAPEX - Depreciation & Amortization + Increase in Net Working Capital. The low Reinvestment rate was because the Depreciation & Amortization offset a lot of the other 2 expenditures.

 It has a good capital allocation plan as shown in Table 2. Its cash flow from operations was sufficient to cover its CAPEX. Note that the CAPEX was high because of the new factory construction.

Item	Sources	Uses
	RM m	RM m
Cash flow from Ops	551
Sale of land	399
Net Debt	53
CAPEX		388
Dividends		280
Buybacks		0
Misc investments		280
Cash and Others		55
Total	1,003	1,003

Table 2: Sources and Uses of Funds 2012 to 2023

Historically without the factor construction, the average annual CAPEX was about RM11 million.

VALUATION

I looked at 2 scenarios in estimating the earnings value of Ajinomoto. Refer to the original article for details of the valuation.

- Scenario 1 based on the past 12 years' time-weighted average performance.
- Scenario 2 There is now a new manufacturing plant. As such I took the 2024 revenue as the base revenue. For the contribution margin and capital turnover ratio, I took the 2022 to 2024 average performance to represent the future performance. I assumed its Reinvestment rate to be 3%.

Its Earnings Value was estimated to be RM18 per share under Scenario 1. The Earnings Value under Scenario 2 was RM26 per share. The market price of Ajinomoto at the end of Sep 2024 was RM15 per share. I would think the Scenario 2 is a more realistic picture of the future. You can see that there is more than a 30% margin of safety at the juncture under this Scenario.

CONCLUSION

Ajinomoto has demonstrated steady growth over the past decade. While its revenue growth aligns with industry trends, its profitability has been significantly influenced by one-off land sales. But even excluding these land gains, the company's operating profit has grown at a respectable pace.

The Group's new manufacturing plant provides a foundation for future growth. This is particularly true in the Middle Eastern market, where its halal-certified products have a competitive edge. However, its historical performance suggests that Ajinomoto is not a high-growth company but rather a stable, cash-generating business. The Group is financially sound with minimal debt and strong cash reserves.

From a valuation perspective, Scenario 2 presents a more optimistic yet reasonable estimate of Ajinomoto's earnings potential. It indicates a value significantly above the current market price.

Ultimately, Ajinomoto appears to be more of an undervalued opportunity than a value trap. While its future growth may not be explosive, its financial strength, industry positioning, and reasonable valuation suggest that it could be a stock for your value investing portfolio.

I am a long-term value investor who has held onto stocks for more than 5 years. My analysis and valuation are from such a perspective. I consider quarterly results "noisy" and focus on long-term trends.

This article was derived from a detailed analysis, emphasizing the intersection of business performance and valuation metrics, which was first published on i4value as "Is Ajinomoto an investment opportunity?" Refer to the article for further insights on its investment risk vs business performance.

GOVT UNLIKELY TO ACHIEVE 40% LABOUR COMPENSATION TARGET BY 2025 - RAFIZI ccording to Economy Minister Datuk Seri Mohd Rafizi Ramli, Malaysia is unlikely to achieve its target of raising the labour income share to 40% of GDP by the end of 2025. This was due to prolonged wage stagnation and the lingering effects of the Covid-19 pandemic. He was speaking in the Dewan Rakyat while winding up the debate on the motion of thanks for the royal address.

The compensation of employees (CE) to the percentage of GDP had remained stagnant at just over 33% of the economy which is well below the government's target under the 12th Malaysia Plan. The Madani government is targeting a longer-term CE ratio of 45% by 2033. He noted that this is the result of two compounding factors, sluggish wage growth over the years, and the economic impact of the Covid-19 crisis.

He also referred to data from DOSM saying that wage growth in Malaysia has lagged behind economic expansion, with median monthly salaries rising at an average rate of 4.3% annually between 2010 and 2023 - from RM1,500 in 2010 to RM2,602 in 2023.

He also noted that there are "early signs of optimism" that wage growth could accelerate. The median monthly salary increased from RM2,600 in June 2023 to RM2,745 in June 2024, representing a 5.6% rise — surpassing the historical average growth rate of 4.3%. Salaries for fresh graduates grew by 12% over the same period, while highly skilled workers saw their earnings rise by 9.1%.

He added that these positive developments occurred even before the implementation of key wage-related policies, such as the revised minimum wage, public-sector salary adjustments, and the upcoming progressive wage model. However, he stressed that 2025 will be a critical year, as the government monitors the impact of these wage reforms on the labour market.

He responded to calls for the minimum wage to be raised to between RM2,000 and RM2,500 by saying that any decision must be guided by the National Wage Consultative Council and implemented in stages. He further cautioned that any rush into drastic increases without proper assessment could harm jobs creation and ultimately undermine the broader economy.

MALAYSIA'S TRADE PERFORMANCE, JANUARY 2025 - DOSM

ccording to the Department of Statistics Malaysia (DOSM), the country's trade performance started a positive trend in January 2025 with the total trade recording an increase of 3.1 per cent or RM7.3 billion reaching a value of RM241.9 billion compared to RM234.6 billion in the previous year. Exports increased by 0.3 per cent or RM380.3 million to RM122.8 billion, while imports recorded an increase of 6.2 per cent or RM6.9 billion to RM119.2 billion as compared to RM112.2 billion in the previous year. In addition, the trade balance continuously posted a surplus with RM3.6 billion, down by 64.3 per cent as compared to RM10.2 billion in January 2024. As compared to December 2024, exports, imports, total trade and trade surplus decreased by 11.3 per cent, 0.2 per cent, 6.2 per cent and 81.0 per cent, respectively.

Malaysia's export performance showed a positive trend in January 2025, recording a growth of 0.3 per cent

Malaysia's exports recorded a growth of 0.3 per cent compared to the same month in 2024, in line with the increase in domestic exports. Domestic exports, which accounted for 79.4 per cent of total exports, increased by 2.9 per cent from RM94.7 billion to RM97.5 billion. On the other hand, re-exports worth RM25.3 billion, accounting for 20.6 per cent of total exports, decreased by 8.7 per cent from RM27.7 billion as compared to the previous year. Meanwhile, the monthly comparison showed exports decreased by 11.3 per cent or RM15.7 billion. However, based on a month-on-month (m-o-m) seasonally adjusted terms analysis, exports decreased by 1.9 per cent to RM130.3 billion.

Export Performance for Major Country of Destination

Singapore and the United States emerged as the top destination countries for Malaysia's exports, collectively contributing 31.0 per cent of the total export value in January 2025. Singapore topped the list with exports worth RM20.9 billion, representing a 17.0 per cent share of Malaysia's total exports, reflecting a significant increase of 19.7 per cent, or RM3.4 billion, compared to the previous year. The increase was mainly driven by higher exports of electrical & electronic (E&E) products (+RM3.0 billion, +38.9%), petroleum products (+RM337.6 million, +13.0%) and machinery, equipment & parts (+RM277.0 million, +19.2%). The United States contributed 14.1 per cent to Malaysia's total exports, valued at RM17.3 billion, marking an increase of RM3.8 billion or 28.1 per cent from the previous year. This growth was supported by higher exports of E&E products (+RM2.1 billion, +26.5%) and other manufactured products (+RM470.6 million, +50.2%). Among the top ten destination countries, exports to Singapore, the United States, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Thailand experienced positive growth. On the other hand, exports to Indonesia, Japan, Australia, China and the European Union recorded declines.

Exports to ASEAN Countries

Exports to ASEAN countries, contributed 30.0 per cent of Malaysia's total exports in January 2025. It recorded a value of RM36.8 billion, a decrease of 1.5 per cent from RM37.3 billion in the same month the previous year. The decline was mainly driven by petroleum products (-RM2.0 billion, -26.5%) and a decline in chemical & chemical products (-RM449.2 million, -17.1%). Among ASEAN countries, Singapore emerged as the leading export destination, contributing 56.7 per cent, with an increase of 19.6 per cent or RM3.4 billion compared to January 2024.

or the past two years, global tech stocks have been riding on the AI wave, adding billions – if not trillions - to their market valuations. However, with the rise of DeepSeek which delivers high-level performance while using significantly less processing power at a fraction of the cost, the party may not last much longer.

DEEPSEEK'S AI DISRUPTION: WHAT MINORITY AREHOLDERS SHOULD KNOW ABOUT

The Artificial Intelligence (AI) landscape is evolving at an unprecedented pace, with new players emerging to challenge the dominance of Western tech giants. One such disruptor is DeepSeek, a Chinese AI startup that has rapidly gained attention with its groundbreaking AI model, DeepSeek R1.

Unlike traditional AI models that demand extensive computational resources, DeepSeek R1 is designed for efficiency. It delivers highlevel performance while using significantly less processing power and lower costs. This advancement has far-reaching consequences, particularly for industries that depend on AI infrastructure, such as data centres.

The emergence of DeepSeek set off a chain reaction that wiped out close to US$1 trillion of market value from the US stock markets. Meanwhile, Bursa Malaysia was not spared from the market rout. As of the end of January 2025, the emergence of DeepSeek and stricter US chip policy collectively erased RM23 billion market capitalisation in 15 Al proxy companies on Bursa Malaysia¹.

In Malaysia, companies like YTL Power International Berhad (YTL Power) and Mah Sing Group Berhad (Mah Sing) have been expanding their investments in data centres, anticipating continued growth in Al-driven computing power. However, with DeepSeek's model proving that powerful AI can run with fewer hardware requirements, the expected increase in large-scale data centres may not follow the previously anticipated trajectory.

The big question is: How will this impact data centre companies in Malaysia, and what should investors know about DeepSeek's Al technology?

THE AI DISRUPTOR RESHAPING THE GAME

At the heart of this disruption is DeepSeek R1, an AI model that challenges conventional AI infrastructure needs by achieving more with less. Traditionally, AI models required massive amounts of computing power and energy to function efficiently. These demands fuelled the growth of high-performance servers, cloud computing, and large-scale data centres.

DeepSeek R1, however, changes the equation. Instead of relying on expensive, resourceheavy infrastructure, it has been developed to perform complex tasks while consuming fewer computational resources. Think of a highly skilled chef who can prepare a gourmet meal using just a few essential ingredients instead of a kitchen full of specialised tools. This efficiency makes AI more accessible and cost-effective, reducing reliance on large-scale computing infrastructure.

Additionally, DeepSeek's open-source approach has made this technology more widely available. Instead of being restricted by expensive software licenses, developers, businesses, and researchers worldwide can freely use, modify, and improve upon DeepSeek's AI model. Imagine a community cookbook where top chefs share their best recipes for free - allowing anyone to refine, experiment, and create their versions.

While this approach democratises AI, it raises concerns for data centre operators and investors who have banked on long-term growth in Al-driven infrastructure. If Al becomes less dependent on large-scale computing power, how will it impact the demand for data centres?

HOW DATA CENTRES ARE LINKED TO AI

Before DeepSeek, AI models were incredibly power-hungry, requiring large data centres to store information and perform computations. Data centres are specialised buildings filled with powerful computers that process and store enormous amounts of digital data.

The global AI boom had increased demand for data centres, benefiting companies that had heavily invested in them, such as YTL Power and Mah Sing. These companies expanded their investments, expecting Al-driven growth to fuel demand for server space, power supply, and larger infrastructure projects.

However, DeepSeek's high-efficiency AI model is changing this equation. Since it requires less processing power and lower energy consumption, the need for large-scale AI computing facilities could decline, raising concerns about whether companies betting on this sector's growth will see the expected returns.

DEEPSEEK'S RIPPLE EFFECT ON MALAYSIAN PLCS

The rapid emergence of DeepSeek's AI model has significantly impacted Malaysia's stock market, particularly in the technology and data centre sectors. The Bursa Malaysia Technology Index slid 2.3% the next day after DeepSeek emerged2, reflecting investor concerns about potential disruptions in demand for large-scale data centres.

²DeepSeek drags down YTL, tech stocks, The Star, https://www.thestar.com.my/business/ businessnews/2025/01/28/deepseek-dragsdown-ytl-tech-stocks

Investors, anticipating shifts in the AI landscape due to DeepSeek's efficient model, adjusted their portfolios accordingly, leading to stock fluctuations associated with AI computing, cloud services, and data storage.

Among the most impacted companies, YTL Power has been at the centre of investor attention due to its significant investments in Al-driven supercomputing infrastructure. In December 2023, YTL Power announced a US$4.3 billion partnership with NVIDIA to develop AI-driven cloud computing and supercomputing facilities, expecting to capture the anticipated surge in Al-driven computing demand. The company's strategy relied on the assumption that AI adoption would drive long-term demand for large-scale data centres requiring substantial server space, power, and infrastructure.

However, DeepSeek's high-efficiency AI model has introduced uncertainty. If future AI models continue to reduce reliance on massive computing power, YTL Power's business model—centred on renting out large-scale computing capacity—could be at risk.

On 27 January 2025, YTL Power's share price tumbled 10.8% to RM3.22, valuing the company at RM26.63 billion. Concerns that DeepSeek's AI model could reduce demand for large-scale data centres led to investor unease. YTL Power's proposed bonus issue of non-tradable warrants also raised doubts about share dilution and limited tradability.

Unlike YTL Power, which has direct exposure to Al-driven computing infrastructure, Mah Sing has taken a broader, more diversified approach. Through a joint venture with Bridge Data Centres, Mah Sing is developing data centres that cater to general cloud storage and IT infrastructure, rather than focusing solely on AI driven computing. This diversified strategy provides some insulation from the potential slowdown in Al-intensive data centre demand following DeepSeek's breakthrough.

Mah Sing's stock declined by a milder 4.17% to RM1.38, as investors recognised its lower exposure to AI computing volatility. Its strategy of diversifying beyond Al-driven demand has given it an edge in navigating shifts in the digital infrastructure market.

Despite market reaction, the Malaysian government remains optimistic. Digital Minister Gobind Singh Deo said that Malaysia sees DeepSeek as an opportunity rather than a threat to strengthen its position as a regional AI and cloud computing hub. While some countries raise data security concerns over opensource AI, Malaysia is focused on fostering AI adoption through supportive policies. The government aims to attract AI and cloud computing investments by maintaining a flexible regulatory environment while sustaining infrastructure growth.

A TURNING POINT FOR AI AND INVESTMENTS

Much like how electric vehicles (EVs) disrupted the auto industry, DeepSeek is reshaping AI infrastructure needs. When EVs became more efficient, the demand for fuel declined, raising concerns for oil and gas companies. However, the energy sector evolved, investing in renewable energy, EV charging networks, and battery technology to remain competitive.

Similarly, companies that adjust their strategies—whether by focusing on cloud services, AI optimisation, or data security-will be better positioned for long-term success as AI models become more efficient.

For minority shareholders, staying informed is crucial. Many may have invested in companies betting on data centre expansion, expecting AI to drive sustained demand. However, with DeepSeek's emergence, the AI landscape is shifting, and companies that fail to adapt may struggle. Investors should closely monitor how Al proxy companies like YTL Power, Mah Sing, and other techrelated stocks refine their strategies in response to evolving changes. Companies that pivot toward Al-driven cloud services, cybersecurity, and efficient data solutions may still capture growth opportunities, even as AI infrastructure evolves.

Malaysia's role as a digital hub remains strong, and technological disruptions always create risks and opportunities. The companies that recognise these shifts early, adjust their business models, and align with new AI trends will emerge stronger. The key is to understand the implications of these changes, evaluate their investments carefully, and look beyond short-term volatility to make informed, strategic decisions in an ever-evolving digital economy.
