KLK's Hidden Value Amid Cyclical Headwinds

SUMMARY

- KLK (BURSA:2445) remains fundamentally a plantation-led group, with strong agronomic metrics and a solid financial position, despite significant diversification into manufacturing and property development.
- Revenue has grown well over the past decade, but profitability and returns on capital have declined due to lower margins, rising contribution from lower-margin manufacturing, and limited efficiency gains.
- Peer comparisons show mixed competitiveness - average operating margins and returns, but industry-leading EPS and strong plantation yields.

Note that KLK has its financial year-end in September. As such, in this article, unless stated otherwise, all the years related to the Group are for the financial year.

Educated at the Royal Military College, Dato' Eu has an engineering degree from the University of Glasgow, and a MBA from the University of Bradford, UK.

KLK's

Hidden Value Amid Cyclical Headwinds

SUMMARY

- KLK (BURSA:2445) remains fundamentally a plantation-led group, with strong agronomic metrics and a solid financial position, despite significant diversification into manufacturing and property development.
- Revenue has grown well over the past decade, but profitability and returns on capital have declined due to lower margins, rising contribution from lower-margin manufacturing, and limited efficiency gains.
- Peer comparisons show mixed competitiveness - average operating margins and returns, but industry-leading EPS and strong plantation yields.

Note that KLK has its financial year-end in September. As such, in this article, unless stated otherwise, all the years related to the Group are for the financial year.

BACKGROUND

KLK began as a plantation company in 1906, and plantations remain the Group's core business today. Over the decades, however, KLK has diversified into manufacturing and property development. The Group's operations now span three major segments:

- 1. Plantation: KLK has approximately 300,000 hectares of planted area, 97% of which is dedicated to oil palm. Its landbank extends across Peninsular Malaysia, Sabah, Indonesia (Belitung Island, Sumatra, and Kalimantan), and Liberia.
- 2. Manufacturing: The Group's initial diversification involved resource-based manufacturing - refining and oleochemicals - creating an integrated business from upstream to downstream. KLK has since expanded internationally, with oleochemical operations in Malaysia, Indonesia, China and several European countries.
- 3. Property Development: KLK entered property development in 1990 through the Sierramas project in Sungai Buloh, a joint venture with Tan & Tan Developments Berhad. Current developments are focused on Bandar Seri Coalfields, a 1,001-acre township in Sungai Buloh, and Caledonia in Ijok, Selangor.

As shown on the left side of Chart 1, the Manufacturing segment has grown significantly and became the Group's largest revenue contributor in 2023.

- 1) The Investment Holdings segment covers placement of deposits with licensed banks, investment in money market funds, investment in quoted and unquoted corporations, and specialty chemicals manufacturing by an associate.
- 2) The Others cover farming and management services.
- 3) In 2022, KLK reclassified the refineries and kernel crushing operations from the Plantation to the Manufacturing segment. It also restated the comparative figures for FY2018 to FY2021. To enable an apple-to-apple comparison, I estimated the "classification ratio" for the other years based on the 2018 and 2021 data.

In 2022, KLK reclassified its refinery and kernel-crushing operations from Plantation to Manufacturing to better reflect the nature of these activities. Even without this reclassification, Manufacturing would still have been the largest revenue contributor in 2023.

The 2022 reclassification boosted the reported profitability of the Plantation segment. Comparing 2018–2021 averages:

- Plantation margins increased from 11.3% before to 37.1% after reclassification.
- Manufacturing margins moved from 4.8% before to 3.7% after reclassification.

Even so, Plantation still demonstrated stronger margins. My estimates also indicate that Plantation had higher operating profit and returns even before the reclassification. Thus, the reclassification does not change the overall conclusions regarding the relative performance of the two segments.

The plantation business is inherently cyclical due to fluctuations in palm oil prices (right side of Chart 2). Oleochemical prices also track palm oil prices closely because oleochemicals are derived from palm oil-based feedstock.

OPERATING PERFORMANCE

From 2012 to 2023, KLK’s revenue grew at a CAGR of 8.1%, driven by both the Plantation and Manufacturing segments. Revenue growth, however, was not linear. Between 2017 and 2020, the Group experienced a significant decline.

- The drop in 2018 and 2019 stemmed from weaker palm oil prices, as visible in the CPO price trend (left side of Chart 2).
- In 2020, revenue was affected by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Revenue rebounded in 2021 and resumed its growth trajectory. The sharp increase in Plantation revenue from 2020 to 2022 reflected both acquisitions and the substantial rise in CPO prices.

While revenue grew, profits did not follow the same trend. PAT and PBT before unusual items in 2023 were lower than in 2012.

A key factor behind the weaker profit performance was the declining gross profit margin, and the fact that there was no significant reduction in the Selling, General, and Administrative (SGA) margin. Gross margins averaged 21% in 2012-2014 but fell to 16% in 2021-2023.

This deterioration likely reflects the increasing weight of the Manufacturing segment, which generally operates at lower margins (see Table 1).

Operations	Revenue RM m a	Op profit RM m b	Equity RM m c	Return d = b/c	Op profit margin e = b/a
Plantation	3,383	1,555	10,218	15%	46%
Manufacturing	19,709	797	6,448	12%	4%
Property development	203	60	2,492	2%	30%
Investment holdings	104	43	-3,530	-1%	41%
Others	172	36	515	7%	21%
Total	23,571	2,492	16,143	15%	11%

Table 1: Sector returns

Notes to Table 1: The performances were based on the 2022 segment classification, where the refinery and kernel operations were treated as part of the Manufacturing segment.
a) Average of 2021 to 2023. b) Average of 2021 to 2023. c) 2023 Equity.

If Manufacturing continues to expand as a share of the business, profitability is likely to remain under pressure unless KLK achieves meaningful efficiency gains. Early indications are not encouraging: gross profitability (gross profit ÷ total assets) has trended downward over the past 12 years.

Unsurprisingly, returns have also been volatile and declining. Over the past 12 years, ROIC averaged 10%, and ROE averaged 11%. Despite the downtrend, KLK still created shareholder value as both metrics exceeded their respective costs of capital.

GROWTH

Growth requires funding, and one way to measure this is through the Reinvestment Rate = Reinvestment ÷ NOPAT, where:

Reinvestment = CAPEX + Acquisitions – Depreciation & Amortization + Increase in Net Working Capital

Over the past 12 years, KLK's average reinvestment rate was 62%, elevated due to acquisitions. Excluding acquisitions, the rate falls to 41%.

KLK does not disclose a breakdown between organic and acquisition-driven growth, but the scale of investment provides clues. Over the 12 years:

- RM 3.4 billion was spent on acquisitions
- RM 10.7 billion on CAPEX

This suggests that acquisitions contributed roughly one-quarter of total growth.

Most acquisitions occurred between 2021 and 2023. If we assume that revenue growth from 2012 to 2019 (pre-COVID) was entirely organic, this implies an organic growth rate of 6.4% CAGR.

Chart 2 (left) indicates that the Plantation segment growth was supported by more mature areas coming into production. Manufacturing growth appears to have come from both capacity expansions and acquisitions.

EFFICIENCIES

Efficiency enhancements have long been a recurring theme. KLK has repeatedly emphasized cost discipline in its various Annual Reports. Despite these intentions, gross profitability has been declining, indicating that improvements have not yet translated into better economic performance.

To evaluate other aspects of efficiency, several operating and capital efficiency metrics were reviewed. The findings are mixed:

- Operating efficiency: While there were improvements in the operating expense ratio and inventory turnover, there was no improvement in the operating profit margin and ROA.
- Capital efficiency: While there was an improvement in the Reinvestment margin (Reinvestment ÷ revenue), there was no change in the asset turnover, fixed asset turnover, and net working capital turnover.

Overall, the data suggests that significant efficiency gains have yet to materialize, and this remains a key area for improvement.

PEER COMPARISON

I compared KLK's performance with 3 other Bursa plantation companies with the same level of revenue. Refer to Table 2. You can see that KLK had the largest revenue in 2023 with one of the best revenue growth rates.

Company	Revenue
	2023 RM m	2015 to 2023 CAGR %
KLK	23,648	7.1%
FGV Holdings (FGV)	19,359	2.8%
IOI Corp (IOI)	11,584	0.0%
SD Guthrie (SDG)	18,428	7.5%

Table 2: Peer Revenue

To assess KLK's competitive standing, I examined the trends of four key metrics relative to its peers.

KLK once ranked among the top performers in returns on capital, but its returns have trended downward and are now closer to the peer-group average. Its EBIT margin and levered free cash flow margin also sit around the industry midpoint.

However, KLK stands out in EPS performance, delivering the strongest EPS among its peers. This suggests that despite weaker capital returns and average operating margins, KLK has been effective in translating its operations into shareholder earnings.

I also compared KLK's position using several plantation-specific metrics. KLK achieved the best FFB yield and the highest proportion of mature areas, underscoring strong agronomic performance. Its oil extraction rate (OER), however, was comparable to peers and did not particularly distinguish itself.

FINANCIAL POSITION

I would rate KLK as financially sound. As of Jun 2025, it had RM3.1 billion in cash. This is equal to 10% of its total assets. From 2012 to 2023, it generated positive cash flow from operations every year. During this period, it generated RM16.0 billion cash flow from operations compared to the total PAT of RM14.9 billion. This is a very good cash flow conversion ratio.

I had already mentioned its Reinvestment rate of 41% excluding acquisitions.

It had a reasonable capital allocation plan. Refer to Table 3. The cash flow from operations was sufficient to fund its CAPEX. However, the company had to increase its debt to fund its acquisitions as well as pay dividends.

VALUATION

I valued KLK under two scenarios:

Scenario 1: Mature Company Assumption

KLK is treated as a mature business growing in perpetuity at the long-term GDP rate of 4%, driven solely by organic growth. The reinvestment rate used reflects the level excluding acquisitions.

Item	Sources RM m	Uses RM m
Cash flow from Ops	15,961
New shares	0
Net Debt	6,793
Acquisition		3,377
CAPEX		10,728
Dividends		7,717
Buybacks		14
Misc		917
Total	22,754	22,754

Table 3: Sources and Uses of Funds 2012 to 2023

Scenario 2: Acquisition-Led Growth

This assumes KLK undertakes a major acquisition next year, lifting revenue by 8%. Thereafter, revenue growth tapers gradually to the terminal rate of 4% by Year 6. The reinvestment rate starts at the historical level, including acquisitions, and then proportionally declines to the organic reinvestment level by the terminal year.

For both scenarios, base revenue was estimated using the best-fit logarithmic trend line from the past 12 years of revenue (2023 anchored to the trend value). This approach smooths out annual volatility.

Given KLK's cyclical nature, I applied a normalized margin based on the 2016–2023 average.

Using these assumptions, the estimated intrinsic values are RM27 per share under Scenario 1 and RM36 per share under Scenario 2

With KLK's market price at RM21 per share (end Jun 2025), this implies a margin of safety under both Scenarios. Refer to the original article for details of the valuation.

CONCLUSION

KLK is a fundamentally strong plantation-led Group that has successfully diversified into manufacturing while maintaining financial resilience. Over the past decade, the Group delivered respectable revenue growth, supported by both organic expansion and acquisitions.

However, this top-line performance has not fully translated into sustained profit growth. Declining gross margins, lower returns on capital, and only modest progress on efficiency improvements indicate that KLK is facing structural pressure as the Manufacturing segment becomes a larger share of the business.

Even so, KLK remains operationally competent. It continues to demonstrate strong agronomic fundamentals - particularly in FFB yields and mature planted areas - and maintains a solid financial position with healthy cash flow generation and prudent capital allocation.

Peer comparisons also show that KLK excels in EPS performance despite its average operating margins, underscoring its ability to convert its operations into shareholder earnings effectively.

Looking ahead, restoring capital returns and lifting overall profitability will be key priorities, especially if Manufacturing continues to expand. More meaningful efficiency gains are essential if KLK is to defend its competitive position and improve long-term economic performance.

On valuation grounds, KLK appears undervalued under both the mature-company and acquisition-led scenarios, providing a margin of safety for long-term investors.

I am a long-term value investor who has held onto stocks for more than 5 years. My analysis and valuation are from such a perspective. I consider quarterly results "noisy" and focus on long-term trends.

This article was derived from a detailed analysis, emphasizing the intersection of business performance and valuation metrics, which was first published on i4value as "Is KLK an investment opportunity?" Refer to the article for further insights on its investment risk vs business performance.

RM16 bil deployed into high-growth, high-value sectors under GEAR-uP programme as of 3Q2025 - MOF

According to the Finance Ministry (MOF), as of 3Q2025, a total of RM16 billion had been allocated and deployed into high-growth, high-value (HGHV) sectors under the Government-linked Enterprises Activation and Reform Programme (GEAR-uP).

The funds were channelled into HGHV sectors which include semiconductors and energy transition, as well as initiatives to uplift underserved communities and to develop local talent. The ministry added that a further RM12 billion is currently under evaluation in the investment pipeline.

The MOF noted that since GEAR-uP was launched in August 2024, the six major government-linked investment companies (GLICs) anchoring the programme have committed to mobilising RM120 billion over five years for the HGHV sectors, in line with the Madani Economy framework. Under GEAR-uP, the GLICs are actively boosting high-technology sectors, including the semiconductor ecosystem and energy transition, as well as galvanising efforts to strengthen local companies and the nation's investment ecosystem.

Malaysian households owe RM54.9 bil in credit card and buy now, pay later debt as of end-September

According to Deputy Finance Minister Lim Hui Ying, Malaysian households owed a combined RM54.9 billion in credit card and buy now, pay later (BNPL) debt as of end-September 2025,

Lim noted that as of Sept 30, more than 90% of the debt was credit card related adding that credit card debt stood at RM50.7 billion, with RM551.8 million (1.1%) overdue. She said online spending continues to drive credit card use.

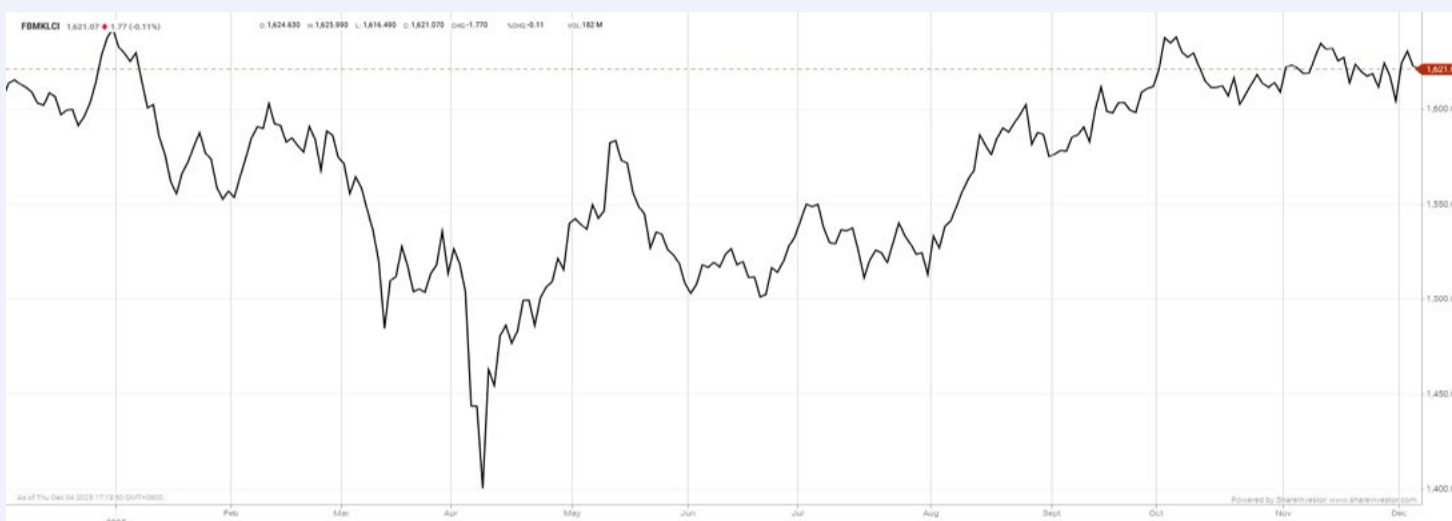

Speaking in the Dewan Rakyat during the oral question and answer session, she said BNPL loans in Malaysia stood at RM4.2 billion across 7 million accounts, with RM147.7 million, or 3.5% overdue from 185,465 users, adding that the overdue sum is considered manageable.

She said the government is introducing policies to promote responsible lending and to prevent borrowers from taking on excessive debt, protecting both household finances and national stability. A key measure is the Consumer Credit Act 2025 (CCA), expected to take effect by end 2025, which will regulate BNPL providers, especially for e-commerce credit.

Under the CCA, BNPL and other non-bank credit providers must follow responsible lending rules: to assess credit-worthiness and affordability, to ensure fair contracts and transparent fees, and to adopt ethical debt collection practices. Lim stressed that while BNPL offers convenient payment options, consumers should also evaluate their finances before borrowing and improve their financial literacy to avoid debt traps.
