JF Tech:
Growth in the Past, Uncertainty Ahead

SUMMARY

- JF Technology Berhad (JF Tech) (BURSA.0146) designs and manufactures semiconductor test probes and sockets. The Group grew revenue at a 16% CAGR over the past 12 years, driven mainly by expansion into China and moving up the value chain.
- Recent performance has weakened. Revenue has stagnated since 2023, and profits declined sharply from 2022 to 2024. This occurred despite a rebound in the global semiconductor market, raising concerns about the sustainability of its earlier growth.
- The Group has a high fixed-cost structure, making profits sensitive to revenue fluctuations. Efficiency metrics and returns have also weakened since 2020, and performance has been more volatile than peers.

JF Tech:

Growth in the Past, Uncertainty Ahead

SUMMARY

- JF Technology Berhad (JFTech) (BURSA.0146) designs and manufactures semiconductor test probes and sockets. The Group grew revenue at a 16% CAGR over the past 12 years, driven mainly by expansion into China and moving up the value chain.
- Recent performance has weakened. Revenue has stagnated since 2023, and profits declined sharply from 2022 to 2024. This occurred despite a rebound in the global semiconductor market, raising concerns about the sustainability of its earlier growth.
- The Group has a high fixed-cost structure, making profits sensitive to revenue fluctuations. Efficiency metrics and returns have also weakened since 2020, and performance has been more volatile than peers.

BACKGROUND

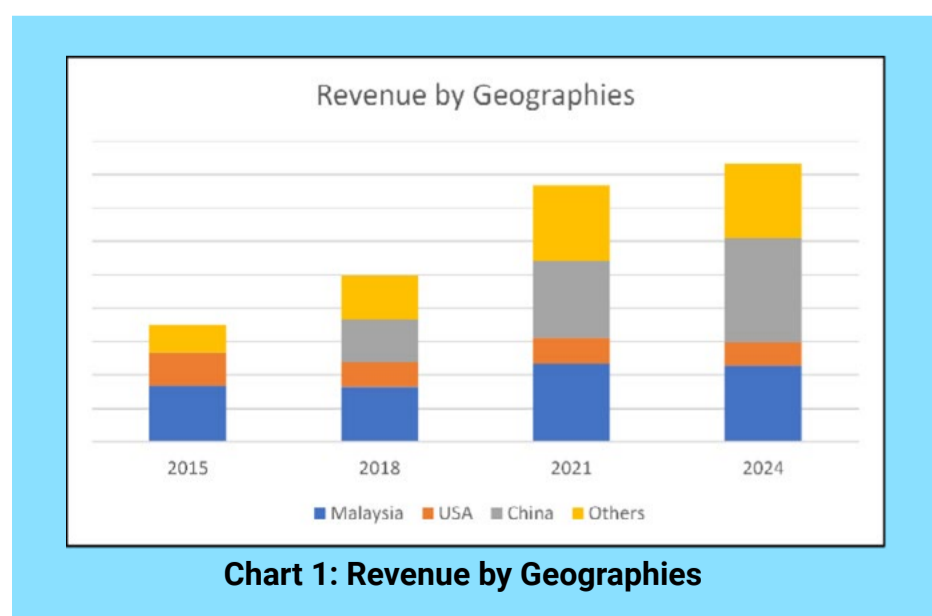

JFTech began in 1999, manufacturing and trading electronic products and components. Over time, it moved up the value chain from an Original Equipment Manufacturer to an Original Design Manufacturer, developing its own intellectual property, brand, and distribution channels.

Today, JFTech's core business is the design, development, and manufacturing of test probes and test sockets used in the semiconductor industry. These are essential tools in the semiconductor testing stage before chips are packaged and shipped.

According to the Group, it is one of the world's top three players in the high-performance test socket industry, with more than 20 years of experience and over 200 customers globally.

In November 2023, the Group partnered with Huawei to design, develop, manufacture, and supply high-performance test contactors in China. The facility in Kunshan, China, is accounted for as an associate.

Although the Group has solutions for automotive and radio-frequency applications, its Annual Reports do not provide segment breakdowns. Instead, revenue is reported by geographic location. As shown in Chart 1, Malaysia accounted for about 27% of the Group's 2024 revenue, with most of the growth over the past decade coming from China.

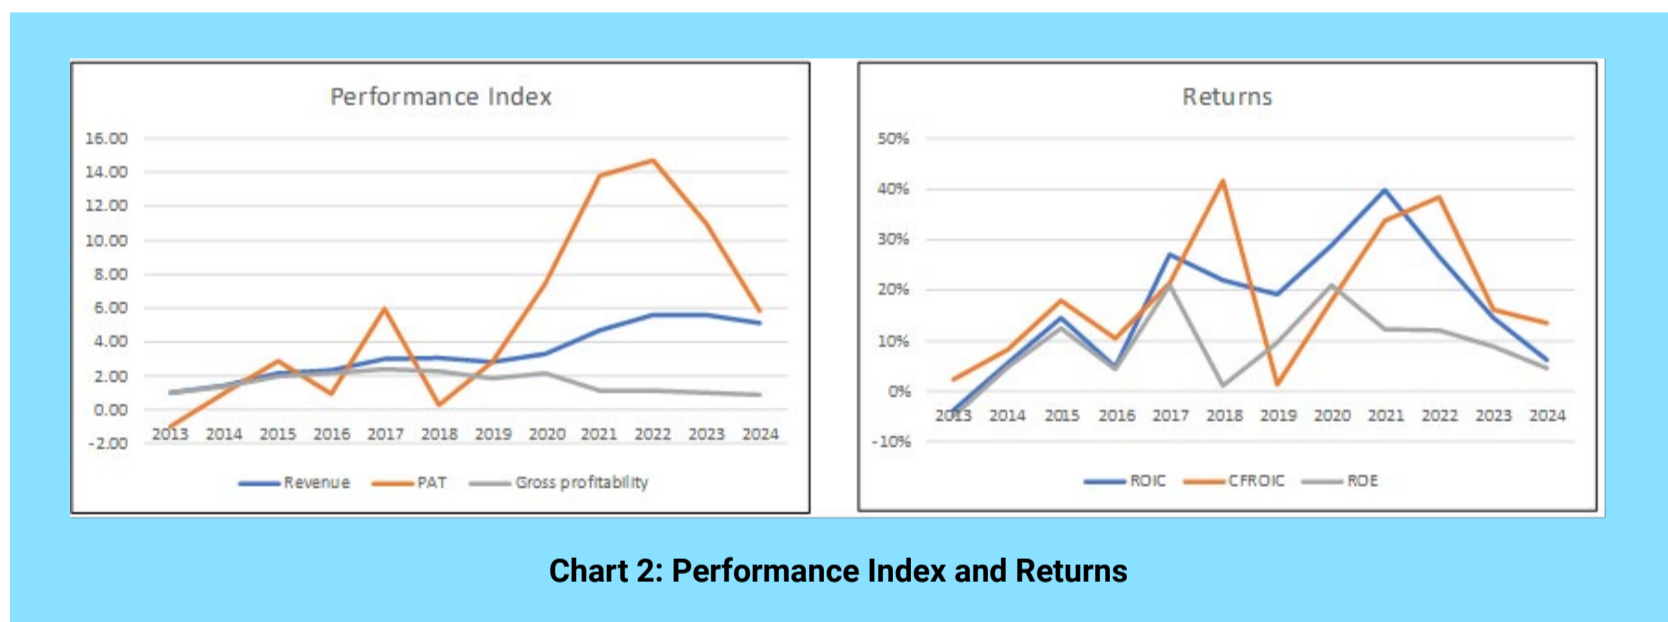

Note that JFTech's financial year ends in June. Unless stated otherwise, the year referred to in this article is the financial year.

OPERATING PERFORMANCE

Over the past 12 years, JFTech achieved a 16% CAGR in revenue. As shown in the left part of Chart 2, most of this growth occurred after 2020, driven by the Group’s expansion into China and efforts to move up the semiconductor value chain.

However, revenue growth appears to have plateaued since 2023, with a decline in 2024. The Group attributed this to the global semiconductor downturn.

JFTech operates in a sector with short product life cycles, making it difficult to determine whether the recent decline reflects a cyclical slowdown or product obsolescence. The Annual Reports also do not indicate whether the decline was driven by lower volumes or weaker selling prices.

The concern is that the Group has recorded three years of flat topline performance despite the broader industry cycle. Industry data show:

- 2020–2022: strong growth, with sales reaching USD574 billion in 2022.
- 2023: downturn, with sales falling 8.2% to USD526.8 billion.
- 2024: strong rebound, with sales projected to grow about 19%.

This suggests that the Group’s stagnation may not be entirely explained by the industry cycle.

More troubling is the sharp profit decline from 2022 to 2024, which led to weaker returns. As shown in the right part of Chart 2, ROIC and ROE improved steadily from 2013 to around 2020/21, but have since declined.

Over 2013–2024, the Group generated an average:

- ROIC of 17% vs WACC of 9.3%
- ROE of 8.9% vs cost of equity of 9.3%

Despite the recent deterioration, these figures suggest that the Group overall created shareholder value over the past decade.

COST STRUCTURE

Part of the profit decline from 2021 to 2024 reflects the Group's cost structure. The left part of Chart 3 shows that fixed costs accounted for about three-quarters of total costs.

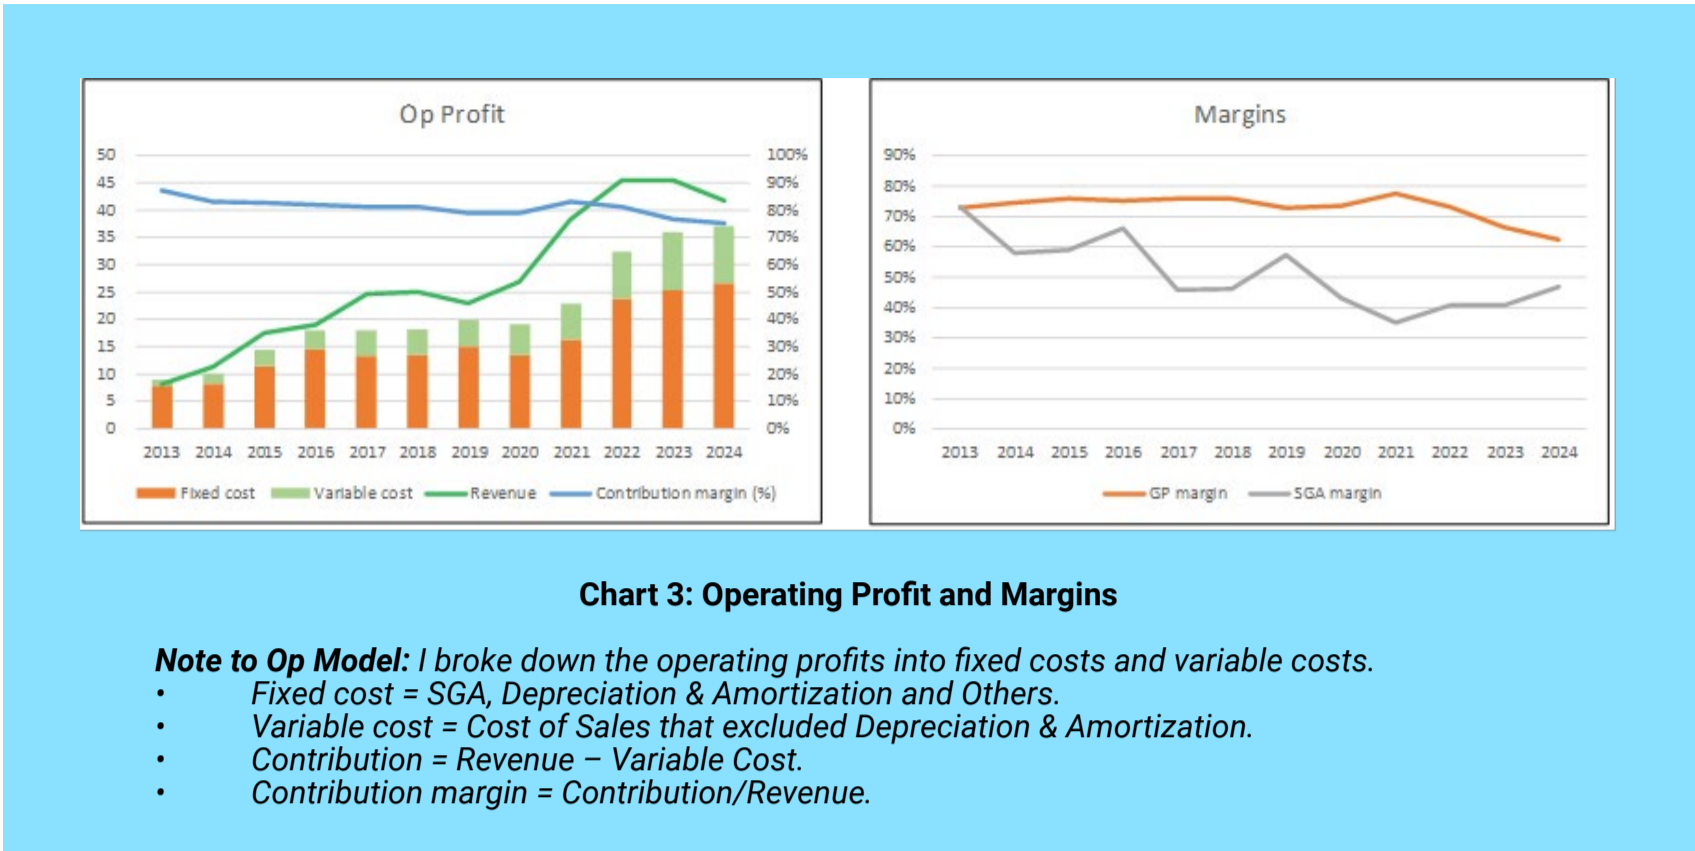

With such a structure, a decline in revenue has a disproportionate impact on profits because fixed costs remain largely unchanged. This margin compression can be seen in the right part of Chart 3.

At the same time, the Group was unable to reduce Selling, General and Administrative (SGA) expenses, resulting in an upward trend in the SGA margin after 2021.

Another characteristic is the low effective tax rate of about 7.5% over the past 12 years. This reflects tax incentives under its Pioneer Status, first granted in 2006 and extended to 2026.

Given its high fixed-cost structure, efficiency improvements are critical to profitability. However, capital efficiency, as measured by gross profitability, has declined in recent years. This occurred despite management's focus on operational improvements.

From 2013 to 2024, both operating and capital efficiency indicators showed periods of improvement followed by stagnation or decline, with no sustained upward trend.

PEER COMPARISON

As JFTech claimed to be among the world’s top 3 leaders in the sector, I compared its performance with global players in the sector. However, many of the global players have much larger revenue. As such, I selected 4 peers with the lowest 2023 revenue as shown in Table 1.

You can see that while JFTech is a very small player in the global market, it had the best revenue growth among the panel.

Company	Revenue
	2023 RM m	2013 to 2023 CAGR %
JF Tech	45	18.9%
Beijing Huafeng Test & Control (688200)	691
Cohu (COHU)	636	11.5%
Smiths Group (SMIN)	3,037	-0.2%
Teradyne (TER)	2,676	6.5%

Table 1: Peer revenue

Note: Data from Beijing Huafeng was only available from 2016.

To assess how well JFTech performed relative to its peers, I examined the trends of four key metrics.

- Return on capital: JFTech’s returns were highly volatile.

They peaked above most peers around 2021 but declined sharply thereafter.

- EBIT margin: Margins improved leading up to 2021 but weakened in the subsequent years.

Please refer to the disclaimer on first page and last page.*

- Cash flow margin: JFTech showed erratic cash flow performance, indicating weaker predictability compared with its peers.
- EPS growth: Peer companies generally delivered stronger and more consistent earnings growth.

Overall, while JFTech demonstrated strong short-term growth, it has struggled to sustain performance over time relative to its peers.

FINANCIAL POSITION

I would rate JFTech as sound financially based on the following:

- As of Sep 2025, it had RM58 million in cash. This is equal to 38% of its total assets.
- As of Sep 2025, it had a debt-capital ratio of 2%. This has come down from its 2013 high of 22%.
- Over the past 12 years, it has generated positive cash flow from operations every year.
- From 2013 to 2024, it generated RM77 million cash flow from operations compared to the total PAT of RM70 million. This is a good cash flow conversion ratio.
- It had a reasonable capital allocation plan. Refer to Table 2. The cash flow from operations was sufficient to fund its CAPEX, with excess used to reduce debt and for dividends.

Item	Sources RM m	Uses RM m
Cash flow from Ops	77
New shares	74
Net Debt		12
Acquisition		4
CAPEX		56
Dividends		37
Buybacks		0
Misc		42
Total	151	151

Table 2: Sources and Uses of Funds 2016 to 2025

My main concern was the historically high Reinvestment rate of 75%. If this is not reduced, it would impact the valuation.

VALUATION

I adopted the following picture in valuing JFTech.

- I assumed that it would continue with its high historical growth rate of 16% next year. But this would be reduced proportionately to the 4% perpetual growth rate in Year 6.
- I assumed that there was no improvement in the operating and capital efficiencies. As such, I considered the 2021 to 2025 (post the testing expansion) average contribution margin and capital turnover to be the base values.
- At the same time, the Reinvestment rate would reduce proportionately from the historical average rate in Year 1 to one given by the fundamental growth equation in Year 6.
- I also assumed that the Group would no longer enjoy the tax incentives and have a 24% nominal tax rate.

On such a basis, I obtained an intrinsic value of RM0.28 per share compared to its market price, which was RM0.46 per share (end Sep 2025). There is no margin of safety. Refer to the original article for details of the valuation.

CONCLUSION

JFTech has built a niche position in the semiconductor test socket industry and has achieved respectable growth over the past decade. Revenue grew at a 16% CAGR over the past 12 years, supported by its expansion into China and efforts to move up the semiconductor value chain. Over this period, the Group also generated returns above its cost of capital, indicating that it created shareholder value.

However, the more recent picture is less encouraging. Revenue growth has stalled over the past three years, and profits declined significantly from 2022 to 2024. While part of this may be attributed to the semiconductor cycle, the stagnation occurred despite a strong rebound in the global semiconductor market in 2024. This raises concerns about whether the slowdown reflects temporary market conditions or structural challenges such as product life cycle pressures.

The Group's high fixed-cost structure further amplifies the impact of any revenue decline, leading to sharp swings in profitability. At the same time, operating and capital efficiency indicators have weakened since 2020 despite management's various initiatives to improve productivity. When compared with its peers, JFTech's performance has also been more volatile and less consistent.

On the positive side, the Group is financially sound with strong cash reserves, minimal debt, and good operating cash flow conversion. However, the historically high reinvestment rate and the declining efficiency trends may limit future returns.

I am a long-term value investor who has held onto stocks for more than 5 years. My analysis and valuation are from such a perspective. I consider quarterly results "noisy" and focus on long-term trends.

This article was derived from a detailed analysis, emphasizing the intersection of business performance and valuation metrics, which was first published on i4value as "Is JFTech an investment opportunity?" Refer to the article for further insights on its investment risk vs business performance.

Auto sales to rebound in March on Hari Raya demand after February slump — MAA

According to the Malaysian Automotive Association (MAA), Malaysia's automotive sales is expected to pick up in March, supported by the upcoming Hari Raya Aidilfitri festive season. Total industry volume (TIV) fell 19% y-o-y in February to 52,414 units from 65,052 units recorded in the same month last year.

In a statement, MAA said that on a month-on-month (m-o-m) basis, February's TIV was also 19% lower than January's 64,298 units, which it attributed to a shorter working month and a one-week plant shutdown in conjunction with the Chinese New Year holidays. Despite weaker February sales, cumulative TIV for the first two months of the year edged up 1% to 116,712 units from 115,501 units in the same period last year.

The decline in February was led by a 21% drop in passenger vehicle sales, while commercial vehicle sales fell 2%. Meanwhile, vehicle production in February also declined 20% y-o-y and more than 18% m-o-m to 49,741 units. Of the total, 46,808 units were passenger vehicles, while 2,933 units were commercial vehicles.

This brought total production for the cumulative two-month period in 2026 to 110,607 units, down 7% from 119,540 units in the same period last year.

Tabung Haji declares eight-year high profit distribution for FY2025

According to Minister in the Prime Minister's Department Dr Zulkifli Hasan, Lembaga Tabung Haji declared an eight-year high profit distribution rate of 3.50% after zakat for the financial year ended Dec 31, 2025 (FY2025).

A total of RM3.22 billion will be distributed to 9.70 million depositors of the pilgrimage fund versus RM2.92 billion to 9.54 million depositors in FY2024.

Depositors can check their credited profit distribution beginning 10am on March 19, 2026, via the THiJARI platform, TH counters, and partner banking channels including Bank Islam, Bank Rakyat, Maybank Islamic, CIMB Islamic and AmBank Islamic.

Tabung Haji also declared a zakat of 2.58% for FY2025, bringing total payments to all state Islamic religious councils on behalf of depositors to RM95.3 million. Zakat obligations are automatically fulfilled with Tabung Haji, meaning that depositors do not need to pay further zakat on the savings to the states.

Tabung Haji recorded total investment income of RM4.64 billion in FY2025, slightly higher than RM4.56 billion a year earlier, as it raised its exposure to equities market amid portfolio diversification efforts.

Private equity is now the top-performing asset class for the fund, delivering a return on investment of 8.29%, supported by stronger realisation activities during the year. Meanwhile, foreign equities generated a return of 7.03%, outperforming domestic equities, which posted a 5.47% gain.

Fixed-income accounts for 53% of Tabung Haji’s total assets, followed by equities at 35%, and the remainder are in real estate, money market instruments and other assets. The real estate investments delivered a stable 5.03% return, while fixed income yielded 4.41%.

Overall, the pilgrim fund has about 86% of its income from domestic investments. The fund is now managing assets worth RM98.58 billion, slightly above liabilities of RM95.63 billion.

FITTERS: GOVERNANCE UNDER FIRE

Fitters Diversified Berhad (Fitters) has recently come under scrutiny over corporate governance lapses, raising serious concerns about board oversight, transparency and minority shareholder protection.

Regulatory fines, large related-party transactions, and questionable disclosure practices have exposed weaknesses in how the company is governed.

Fitters began operations in the 1970s as a fire protection and prevention solutions provider. It has built a reputation as a “one-stop” fire protection specialist.

Over the decades, Fitters expanded beyond its core business into property development and construction, renewable and waste-to-energy as well as green palm oil mill operations.

However, the Company’s governance practices recently came under scrutiny again following regulatory action by Bursa Malaysia.

FINE AND REPRIMAND BY BURSA MALAYSIA

In September 2025, Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad reprimanded Fitters and fined five current and former directors RM400,000 each. The penalties were imposed for breaches related to the acquisition and disposal of shares in Computer Forms (M) Berhad, a related party due to common major shareholders.

The regulator identified several failures:

- No immediate announcement was made.
- Shareholder approval was not obtained before the transactions.
- No appointment of independent adviser.
- The initial disclosure was inaccurate with shareholder ratification sought only afterward.

These are not minor technical errors. They involve breaching basic listing requirements designed to protect minority shareholders. Immediate disclosure ensures transparency. Independent advisers safeguard fairness and prior shareholder approval prevents conflicts of interest.

When these steps are ignored, minority shareholders are exposed to risk.

The fact that directors were fined RM400,000 each show that the regulator viewed the breaches as serious. Such actions damage the company's reputation and signal weaknesses in internal controls and board oversight.

RM150 MILLION RELATED PARTY "TRANSACTION"

Another governance concern involves the RM150 million refundable deposit paid for a proposed property acquisition in Klebang, Melaka.

The deposit, paid to Sanichi Precision Mould Sdn Bhd (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sanichi Technology Berhad) on 28 August 2025, is a related party transaction due to common directorships and/or substantial shareholding.

RM150 million is a large amount for Fitters, by any measure.

It represents 37.1% of the Company's net assets as of 31 August 2025. For a company with a market capitalisation of only RM59 million, this commitment is substantial.

Fitters placed this deposit under an Expression of Interest (EOI) to secure rights to purchase 196 SOHO units and 66 retail units in a mixed development project. No definitive or binding agreement has been entered into between the parties; hence no announcement or circular was required at that time.

That said, the scale of commitment raises governance concerns, notwithstanding that the deposit is fully refundable and that the acquisition can be terminated.

When a related-party transaction involves 37.1% of a Company's net assets, investors should receive clear and timely disclosure so they can properly assess the risks.

In the absence of announcement and adequate disclosure, shareholders are left to wonder the strategic rationale for acquiring these properties, especially given that they do not appear to align with the Group's core business operations. Besides, was an independent valuation conducted to ensure the transaction is undertaken at arm's length, given the related-party relationship?

DISCLOSURE BURIED DEEP

Perhaps the most troubling issue is the disclosure of the matter.

The RM150 million deposit was mentioned only on page 180 of the 2025 Annual Report under "refundable deposits". While technically disclosed, placing such material information deep in the footnotes weakens transparency.

Material transactions should be prominently highlighted and explained in the Management Discussion & Analysis (MD&A). Burying critical details in lengthy reports creates an impression of concealment and undermines investor trust.

Investors should not have to search through 180 pages to find it.

CAN FITTERS EXTINGUISH GOVERNANCE CONCERNS?

Taken together, Fitters' recent regulatory breaches, the large related-party deposit and weak disclosure practices reflect a pattern of governance weaknesses. These issues raise concerns about board oversight, internal controls and the protection of minority shareholders. When major transactions are not clearly disclosed or properly approved, investor trust is undermined.

Most importantly, the board must demonstrate a genuine commitment to protecting minority shareholders. It should ensure that related-party transactions are independently reviewed, material dealings are announced promptly, and disclosures are clear and transparent – the very areas that previously led to enforcement action by Bursa Malaysia.

Strong governance is essential to rebuild trust, protect minority shareholders and support the company's long-term sustainability. The question now is - has Fitters truly learned from its past lessons?
