Double-digit earnings growth for most sectors; gloves, property and healthcare to be top performers

According to Maybank Kim Eng regional head of equity research Anand Pathmakanthan, most sectors on Bursa Malaysia are likely to see double-digit earnings growth this year, lending further support for the FBM KLCI to breach the 1,800-point level by year-end as market optimism improves. This will mark a sharp reversal from corporate Malaysia's performance last year, where the revenues of most sectors suffered a double-digit plunge following the Covid-19 pandemic. Top three performers this year would be gloves, property development and healthcare segments, with an estimated earnings growth of 120.2%, 87.6% and 61.3% respectively. However, the aviation, shipping and non-bank financials are projected to face declining earnings. Maybank Kim Eng is bullish on the mid-cap financials and banking, utilities, healthcare and gloves, automotive, large-cap oil and gas, construction, plantation and technology stocks. On the contrary, it was "underweight" on aviation and mid-cap oil and gas counters. On the glove manufacturers, investors are recommended to hold some glove stocks in their portfolio. Within the segment, Maybank Kim Eng's preferred pick was Hartalega Holdings Bhd. Glove demand is not expected to fall dramatically, if at all. The demand for gloves will remain strong. However the research house is bit more cautious on the supply as there is a lot of supply coming in 2022 not just from Malaysia, but also China. That would probably have some pressure on the average selling prices (ASPs), but having said that, 2021 is going to be a fantastic year for the glove stocks. ASPs are still moving up, waiting time is still 12 to 15 months in terms of order backlog. Hence the confidence in the earnings numbers. It is noteworthy that glove stocks have underperformed since November 2020 as vaccine makers announced high-efficacy rates and more countries commenced their mass inoculation programmes. However investor attention on glove stocks would return, in the event there is any negative news flow in terms of vaccine effectiveness. It will be a very natural switch back to gloves if people think lockdowns will go on much longer than expected. Maybank Kim Eng forecast the FBM KLCI to hit 1,830 points by end-2021, supported by a "Goldilocks" combination of sustained fiscal and monetary stimulus as earnings growth recovers. Since the Covid-19 outbreak, the government has announced five rounds of stimulus packages totalling RM320bil, not inclusive of the RM322.5bil allocation under Budget 2021. On the monetary front, Bank Negara has slashed the overnight policy rate by 125 basis points to 1.75% since last year. Apart from the recovering commodity prices, the stock market is expected to also benefit from the projected increase in yield for government bonds this year. Due to the government's big budget deficit, a lot of government debt will be issued this year. At the same time, the Employees Provident Fund and the Retirement Fund Inc have much less firepower to absorb or buy the government debt. Last year, thanks to the Statutory Reserve Requirement cuts, banks had additional liquidity to buy the bonds. There is no such thing this year. The government bond yields would start to move up this year, no longer going down like in the last few years which would make stocks more attractive.

SC expands SRI Sukuk Grant Scheme to boost capital market fund raising for sustainable development.

Securities Commission Malaysia (SC) has expanded its Green SRI Sukuk Grant Scheme and renamed it as SRI Sukuk and Bond Grant Scheme. According to SC chairman Datuk Syed Zaid Albar, the grant is now applicable to all sukuk issued under SC's Sustainable and Responsible Investment (SRI) Sukuk Framework or bonds issued under the ASEAN Green, Social and Sustainability Bond Standards (ASEAN Standards). The Green SRI Sukuk Grant Scheme was established in 2018 to assist in defraying up to 90% of the external review costs for green SRI sukuk. It has benefited eight issuers involved in renewable energy, green building and sustainable projects to date. As a regional leader in sustainable and responsible investment, Malaysia's capital market offers companies efficient and reliable access to financing of sustainable projects that can positively contribute to the environment and society, in alignment with the country's commitment to the Sustainable Development Goals and the climate change agenda. Malaysia made up 19% of sukuk and bonds issued under the ASEAN Standards. As at December 2020, RM5.4 billion in SRI sukuk have been issued under the SRI Sukuk Framework, of which 58% or RM3.1 billion are also recognised under the ASEAN Standards, and another RM635 million of bonds issued under the ASEAN Standards. The SRI Sukuk and Bond Grant Scheme is now open for applications, where eligible issuers can claim the grant to offset up to 90% of the external review costs incurred, subject to a maximum of RM300,000 per issuance. Income tax exemptions are provided for the recipients of the scheme for a period of five years until 2025 as announced in Budget 2021.

BNM keeps OPR at 1.75% amid continued recovery of global economy but downside risks remain.

Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM) has maintained the overnight policy rate (OPR) at 1.75% following the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) meeting, as it sees continued recovery in the global economy, although downside risks remain amid uncertainties surrounding the Covid-19 pandemic. The recent resurgences in Covid-19 cases and the subsequent containment measures have affected economic activity in several major economies, although the expedited roll-out of vaccination programmes and policy support are expected to lift global growth prospects going forward. The overall outlook remains subject to downside risks, primarily if there is further resurgence of Covid-19 infections and delays in mass inoculation against Covid-19. The resurgence of Covid-19 cases in Malaysia and the introduction of targeted containment measures had affected the recovery momentum in the fourth quarter of 2020. BNM expects growth for 2021 to be near the lower end of its earlier forecasted range of between -3.5% and 5.5% for 2021. While near-term growth will be affected by the containment measures, the impact in 2021 will be less severe than that experienced in 2020. The growth trajectory is projected to improve from the second quarter onwards. The improvement will be driven by the recovery in global demand, turnaround in public and private sector expenditure amid continued support from policy measures, and higher production from existing and new manufacturing and mining facilities. The roll-out of vaccines in the coming months will also lift sentiments. The average headline inflation is expected to be negative in 2020, due to substantially lower global oil prices and is projected to average higher in 2021 due to higher oil prices. Underlying inflation is expected to remain subdued amid continued spare capacity in the economy, although the outlook is subject to global oil and commodity price developments. The MPC considers the stance of monetary policy to be appropriate and accommodative. Given the uncertainties surrounding the pandemic, the stance of monetary policy going forward will be determined by new data and information, and their implications on the overall outlook for inflation and domestic growth. BNM remains committed to utilise its policy levers as appropriate to create enabling conditions for a sustainable economic recovery.
